"REPRESENTATION OF NATURE IN ENGLISH LITERATURE"

The Department of English, Jagannath Singh College, organized a departmental seminar on "Representation of Nature in English Literature" on 16th November 2024. Thirty students participated, with eleven presenting papers exploring diverse aspects of the theme.

The seminar provided a platform for students to delve into how nature has been portrayed in various literary works across different periods. The presentations covered a wide range of topics, from Romantic poets' idealized landscapes to more contemporary eco-critical perspectives.

Dr. Susmita Mitra, Head of the English Department, and Dr. Koushik Nath, Assistant Professor, offered valuable insights and suggestions to the participants. Their expertise enriched the discussions and provided students with a deeper understanding of the subject matter. The seminar fostered a lively exchange of ideas and encouraged critical thinking about the complex relationship between literature and the natural world. The event successfully promoted academic engagement and intellectual growth among the students.
