

JAGANNATH SINGH COLLEGE:: UDHARBOND:: CACHAR:: ASSAM

At Jagannath Singh College in Udharbond, the birth centenary of the world-renowned musician Dr. Bhupen Hazarika was celebrated with due dignity last Monday. On that day, the Principal, Teaching and non-teaching staff, and students of the college paid tribute to Sudhakantha (Bhupen Hazarika's title). Dr. Basabi Paul Sen, Coordinator of the Cultural and Co-curricular Activity of the college, conducted the programme. Following this, Dr. Swapan Das, Assistant Professor of the college's Department of Political Science, gave a relevant speech on the life and work of Bhupen Hazarika. He said that if one reviews the history of the creative works Bhupen Hazarika has left behind, one can find the lives of the oppressed and helpless people in his creations from the beginning to the end of his life. The artist wanted to realize the dream of building this egalitarian social system through his music. The teaching and non-teaching staff of the college performed a chorus at the programme paying tribute to the musician. Then Rituporna Paul, a fifth-semester student, performed an amazing dance on one of his written song. Monali Rajbongshi, Mahima Rajbongshi, Gayatri Rajbangshi, and Junmoni Rajbonshi performed a wonderful Assamese dance, known as Bihu. According to the decision, the birth centenary of Sudhakantha was celebrated statewide on that day. In keeping with this, an unostentatious ceremony was arranged at the college.
